

NATHANIEL FREY QUILTS AS MASTER MECHANIC OF BURLINGTON ROAD

VETERAN RAILROAD MAN LEAVES THE FIRST OF OCTOBER

Health and Pressing Private Business Responsible for Resignation
It Is Said

LOCATED IN LA CROSSE FOR YEARS Was General Foreman in 1869 and Was Made Master Mechanic Eighteen Years Ago

LIFE SPENT IN THE BUSINESS Since Leaving Home in the East Has Been Affiliated with Many Roads in Responsible Positions

Nathaniel Frey, for eighteen years master mechanic of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad with headquarters at Grand Crossing, has resigned his position, the resignation to take effect October 1.

Two reasons prompt Mr. Frey's resignation—ill health and business matters, the latter so pressing that they need his personal attention.

Mr. Frey has been connected with the Burlington at La Crosse since the establishment of the shops at Grand Crossing and is one of the oldest men, in point of service, in the employ of that road.

He is an old railroad man, having spent the greater portion of his life in that business.

Up to date the road has made no selection for his place and it is understood that his leaving the service met strong opposition from men high in the official life of the "Q."

Born in East
Mr. Frey was born in Erie, Pa., in 1859. He acquired his education in the schools of his native city after which he served an apprenticeship in a shop at Erie.

After becoming a master machinist he moved to Davenport, Ia., where he was employed as foreman at the LaCair Iron works. He also had charge of the waterworks there until 1874, after which he accepted a position as pit boss with the Rock Island company. During the construction of the Northern Pacific road he accepted a position as general foreman of the shops at Fargo, North Dakota.

Came Here in 1899
It was in 1886 that he affiliated with the C. B. & Q. and was located at Savanna, Ill., where he had charge of the roundhouse and was general foreman on the Savanna division. It was in 1889 that he was transferred to La Crosse and worked here as general foreman up to the time of his appointment as master mechanic.

Mr. Frey's appointment as master mechanic followed the resignation of W. H. Lewis who left La Crosse to become superintendent of motive power with the Norfolk & Western people.

Mr. Frey's resignation—while railroad officials have made no official announcement, is not altogether a surprise to those close to Burlington affairs here.

Quit Two Years Ago
Two years ago he intended to resign but was persuaded by officials to accept the position of chief coal superintendent at Chicago. He did that work for a little over a year but returned to La Crosse and resumed his old berth as master mechanic.

Since he has been connected with the Burlington Mr. Frey has refused many offers from other roads, his long connections with the Burlington and the warm feeling and interest he held for that utility prompting his declination of lucrative and responsible positions with other big railway companies.

Many Private Interests
Mr. Frey, who is vice president of the Security Savings bank of this city, has large business interests in and around DeSoto, Wis., and it is probable that the administration of his private affairs will take all of the spare time at his disposal.

Mr. Frey's health, lately, has not been of the best and his close friends say that this is in a large measure responsible for his resignation as master mechanic.

Mr. Frey has a host of friends among the railroad men, both on the Burlington and other roads, who will regret his leaving the service but wish him well in whatever field his activities may be directed later.

TOM MANN SCORES PACKERS' BANQUET

Likens Epicurean Feast Planned in Chicago to Belshazzar's
Revel

WILL HUNT DOWN FOX IN HALL

Helpless Beast Pursued by Hounds Compared to Workers by British Syndicalist

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 18.— "No words, however tipped with invective, can make impression on the hides of the men who will glorify Mammon and sit at this modern feast of Belshazzar."

In these words, Tom Mann, English labor leader and syndicalist agitator today scored the proposed banquet of the American Packers' association to be held in the Congress hotel, Chicago, next Monday night.
The banquet will be the most lavish in the history of Chicago. The famous peacock alley will be turned into an English woodland with natural foliage teeming with bird and small animal life.

To Chase Live Fox
The Ellabethan room will be the scene of the banquet proper and about the room enclosed in a cage construction hidden by foliage, a pack of hounds will run to earth a live fox while a troop of scarlet clad huntmen drive them on. The diners will be in English hunting costume and cabaret artists will sing English hunt songs. The meal will cost $100 a plate and 700 packers are to attend.

"The scene will be typical of the packers' very lives," continued Mr.
Mann. "Instead of a poor bewildered frightened fox whose agonized yelps and panting breath betrays the human cruelty to one of God's animals substitute men and women toiling in the packing houses. Instead of the fluttering of terror mad birds substitute the desperate struggles of young girls, daughters of the men whose toil goes on from dawn to dark to lead the clean natural lives God planned for both birds and maid-ens."

Workers Like Driven Fox
"Held by bars of industrial prisons the workers like the fox must go on and on in the endless circle while the hounds of poverty and death snap at their heels. The blood that flows from the poor fox will be no redder than the wines that stain the damask, as money wrung from the hearts of toilers is turned into flowing liquors to fire the blood of the masters."

"Good God, when will the people learn? Little children in the dark alleys are crying for bread; disease ridden men are praying for death; the wailing of broken hearts should drown the yelps of the hounds that seek to rend and tear while the overflows of capitalism waste in a night the proceeds of long weary hours of slaves to the system."

"I welcome that banquet though I shrink from its waste for it is but one more dagger thrust into the body of the great mass of humanity that is tending to arouse the people from the slavery under which they now cringe."

ELECTRIC CAR WRECKED

SANDUSKY, Ohio, Sept. 18.—Two persons were perhaps fatally hurt and a dozen others more or less seriously injured when a Lake Shore electric car was derailed near Cas-talia, early today. The car, carrying an excursion party of Eagles from Bellevue to Sandusky, ran over a derail at Big Four grade crossing, crashed into a telephone pole and turned over on its side.

DAKOTA FARMERS "GROW" OWN CASH

EDGELEY, N. D., Sept. 18.— Demonstrating fully that farmers and business men can "grow" their own money, the people of this locality today have greatly increased the medium of exchange by the use of elevator receipt checks. The farmers are using these receipts just as they would real currency and they pass through half a dozen hands before finally being cashed.

The elevator receipt for one load of grain was recently traced through seven different dealers before it was turned into coin of the realm. With an increased circulating medium available just when it is most needed, the residents here are worrying less over the pending currency legislation than those in some other parts of the country.

ORGANIZE COURT OF IMPEACHMENT

Members Sworn In and the Sulzer Forces Gain Slight Victory Before Ad-jourment

BIG FIGHT IS DUE TOMORROW

Defense Will Kick on the Rules to Find Out Where the Judges Stand

BY JOHN EDWIN NEVIN (Staff Correspondent of the United Press.)

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Completely organized, the high court of impeachment, which will pass upon the guilt or innocence of William Sulzer, elected governor of the state of New York, recessed until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The only business transacted was the swearing in of the members of the court. In that action the Sulzer forces gained a victory. By a ruling of Chief Judge Edgar M. Cullen of the court of appeals, three additional members of that court who are designated and not elected, will sit with the court. The three members, Judges Miller, Hiscock and Chase, are republicans.

Fight Begins Friday

The first big fight will come tomorrow. Then the attorneys for Sulzer will assail the rules of procedure which are this afternoon being prepared by a special committee

Sarrecky Flees State

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 18.— Louis A. Sarrecky, former secretary to Governor William Sulzer before the latter was elected governor, and after Mrs.
Sulzer, probably the chief witness in the Sulzer impeachment trial, has disappeared.

Representatives of the assembly managers sent to Buffalo last night to locate him in that city, wired here this morning that he had left the state and was believed to be in Cleveland, Ohio. Sarrecky had charge of the Sulzer campaign funds and the impeachment managers planned to compel him to testify as to their disposition.

composed of Senators Wagner, Brown and Judge Bartlett. In order to be able to do this, the attorneys for the accused announced that they were present to "object to the jurisdiction of the high court and to its membership."

Judge Herrick, chief counsel for the governor, does not believe that his objections will carry. Under the rules of law affecting the court, a majority vote will decide every question but the actual impeachment, for which a two thirds vote is necessary.
There is no question but that more than half of the members are hostile to Sulzer. But he will have raised a question on which he can get a line upon the judges of the court of appeals, the one big thing the Sulzer people want.

The single thing that stood out most prominently was that Chief Judge Edgar M. Cullen will influence the fate of Sulzer. The old-young judge, three score years and ten, but with the activity of a man of twenty-five, held the entire situation in the hollow of his hand. His decisions were emphatic and beyond possibility of misunderstanding. Everyone present was impressed by his aims and more than one senator confidentially explained that he would think long and hard before he would vote against the judge on any question. And it is believed likely that if Cullen, who will be among the earliest of the voters, declares for Sulzer, he will sway the majority of the members, no matter what their personal beliefs may be.

The charges to which a plea of not guilty has been interposed are as follows:
That William Sulzer filed with the secretary of state a false statement of his campaign receipts, expenditures, disbursements and liabilities.
That he was guilty of perjury in stating under oath that his statement of his campaign receipts, expendi-
was correct.

That he was guilty of bribing witnesses to withhold testimony from the legislative committee which investigated his campaign expenditures and receipts.

That he was guilty of suppressing evidence in using threats to keep witnesses from testifying before the legislative committee.

That he was guilty of preventing and dissuading a witness, Frederick L. Colwell, from attending under subpoena the sessions of the legislative committee.

That he used money and checks contributed to his pre-election campaign to speculate in stocks and that he was thereby guilty of larceny.

That, as governor, he threatened to use his office and influence for the purpose of affecting the vote or political action of certain public officers.

That, while governor, he corruptly used his authority or influence to

SCHMIDT MAY BE MASTER CRIMINAL

Following His Trail of Crime Expected to Develop Widespread Operations

HAD FOUR LINES OF ENDEAVOR

Scope So Far Discovered Included Clergyman, Counterfeiter, Thief and Murderer

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—As police and secret service operatives followed the trail of crime which has marked the career of Hans Schmidt, confessed murderer of Anna Aumuller, and assistant priest of St. Joseph's church, today they expected to disclose the operations of one of the greatest criminals of a generation.
So rapidly have come developments in the investigation into Schmidt's life that the detectives themselves were startled at the work of this man who kept his record so well covered that he deceived the church authorities and was admitted as a priest in this country.

Illicit Medical Man Priest, counterfeiter, thief and murderer represents the scope of Schmidt's activity so far discovered and there is also evidence that he probably engaged in illicit practice of medicine. The district attorney's office was confident today that any attempt to save Schmidt from the electric chair would fail. William J.
Flynn, chief of the United States defective service, stated that he never knew of a man who attempted counterfeiting to be insane, and further he never heard of an insane coun-terfeiter.

Find Another Man

The detectives also indicated today that another arrest might be expected soon. They believe another man is involved with Schmidt and Muret. Letters were also found in Schmidt's trunk signed "Helen," and the detectives are searching for this woman. They have learned that she was known as "Helen Green." The letters addressed Schmidt in the most endearing terms, and from them it was learned that she had gone to Chicago.

Most sensational of all the day's developments was the report from Aschaffenburg, the home town of Schmidt, that his friend and constant correspondent, the Rev. Joseph Heim, had committed suicide at Moesburg yesterday by cutting his throat with a razor. No reason was given.

Suspected of Another Killing

Evidence obtained by the police today indicated that Schmidt had deceived other girls besides Anna Au-muller, and that he may also have been responsible for the death of Fraulein Haan, a young telephone operator found murdered near the home of the Schmidts in Aschenburg several years ago. The police have learned that he was forced to leave his home town because of his attentions to a young woman. This was before he got into trouble with the ecclesiastical authorities and decided to come to the United States.

A search of Schmidt's trunks today resulted in the finding of some 200 envelopes marked with amounts of from $2 to $21 which Schmidt had apparently collected from parishioners of St. Joseph's and converted to his own uses.

Weather

Forecast for La Crosse and vicinity: Fair tonight and Friday; warmer Friday.

Wisconsin: Fair tonight and Friday; rising temperature Friday; moderate east to southeast winds.

Minnesota: Fair tonight and Friday; warmer tonight and southeast portion Friday.

Iowa: Fair tonight and Friday with rising temperature; east to south winds increasing Friday.

Weather Conditions Fair weather continues throughout the west while rain has occurred at most stations east of the Mississippi and along the west gulf coast.
The temperature has risen from Colorado northward through Montana and North Dakota into the Canadian territory. It is much cooler in California but excessive temperatures prevailed in the southern portion of that state yesterday. San Diego reports a maximum temperature of 110 degrees which is the highest ever recorded at that station. The pressure is low over the middle and north Atlantic states and rain is falling in that section this morning. Other de-pressions are central over the northern Rocky mountain districts and off the south Pacific coast. A moderate high covers the lake region. The easterly drift of the northwestern low will cause rising temperature in this section tonight and Friday with probably fair weather.

ORIENTAL LIMITED PLUNGES INTO BURNING BRIDGE NEAR TREMPEALEAU AT NOON TODAY

PRIEST WHO CONFESSED MURDER AND HIS VICTIM

The Rev. Hans Schmidt, a German priest, assistant pastor of St.
Joseph's Roman Catholic church, at 405 West 125th street, New York City, has confessed to the chief of detectives of that city that he murdered Anna Aumuller, whose dismembered body was found in the Hudson river. He was caught after some of the cleverest detective work that has been done in the country, the kind that the New York police department has seldom been guilty of.

The girl was a servant in the rectory of St. Boniface's church. The priest rented a flat for her and spent some of his time there. He went about two weeks ago, and, finding her in bed asleep, cut her throat with a carving knife. Then he severed her body, and wrapping the pieces separately, made five trips with the packages across the Fort Lee Ferry on the Hudson river. Each time he dropped a package overboard. He did not weight them properly, and three packages came to the surface and were discovered.

BRING THEM BACK TO HELP VICTIM

Local Young Men Chase Fleeing Autoists 5 Miles and Bring Them Back to Where They Hit Man

MAN STRUCK NOT SERIOUSLY HURT

Taxicab Fells Laborer on Mormon Coulee and Occupants Try to Escape

After chasing them for five miles on the Mormon Coulee road late last night two unidentified men in taxicab were captured by Peter H. Capellen of the Batavian National Bank and Adolph Dittman of the Dittman Hardware company. The men in the taxicab had struck and injured a Greek laborer five miles south of Stephan's when they cut ahead of the car carrying the local men, according to the statement made by the latter today. Henry Zeisler of the Batavian bank, and Waiter Shirley, Ninth and Main streets, were also in the machine.
Zeisler and Shirley got out and picked up the injured man who had been thrown into a ditch alongside the road, while their companions chased the taxicab.

The local men were returning from a pleasure trip. Another automobile was running towards them at a moderate speed and as they passed it, a machine from the rear traveling at the rate of over forty miles an hour, they say, cut around their machine striking a man who was walking from town. They distinctly saw the man knocked down by the rear fender of the machine.

The men in the taxicab looked around, according to the story of the local men, and could not help but see the injured man, as a bright moon was shining.

When Capellen and Dittman saw the man was injured they told their companions to stay with him while they chased the other machine, which had continued north at furious pace.
Adding speed to their own car they raced for five miles before they overtook the taxicab, and commanded the two men, who would not give

HOUSE PASSES THE GLASS BILL TODAY

Half of Republicans Vote for Measure and Only Three Democrats Against It

MANY AMENDMENTS REJECTED

Progressive Republicans on Final Vote Join in Support of the

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The house this afternoon passed the administration's currency bill by a vote of 286 to 84. Many republicans voted with the majority party for the measure. Three democrats voted against it—Calloway of Texas, Witherspoon of Mississippi and Elder of Louisiana.

The vote came after the democrats had rejected half a dozen amendments and the house again affirmed the Foss amendment declaring that nothing in the measure should be construed as invalidating the gold standard of coinage.

All of the progressives voted for the bill. The republicans split nearly equally on the vote.

JACK FROST HERO CONQUERS FASHION

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 18.— Reformers who professed to see in the slit skirt and X-ray gown the downfall of the nation may begin to sleep o' nights again. The filmy, abbreviated draperies have surrendered to the forces of Jack Frost. The following message received today by a Milwaukeean whose wife is going from this city to Buffalo by boat, was too good for the wireless people to keep, although names were suppressed. The message follows:
"Dear John:

"Express last year's gray traveling suit and three black silk petticoats Detroit. Don't fail. Will be confined to stateroom by cold until I get them.
"MARIE."

There you have it.

COAST TRAIN IN FLAMES NORTH OF LA CROSSE

NO FATALITIES ARE REPORTED

ALL BUT THREE CARS BURNING

Three Others in the Ditch While Sleepers Are Drawn Out of Danger Zone
by Wreckers

Running rapidly to make up time the Oriental Limited—the Burling-ton's crack coast train—crashed through a burning bridge two miles west of Trempealeau at 10 o'clock today. Four of the cars are burning, having been ignited by the flaming bridge timbers.

Miraculously no one was killed, although one man is seriously hurt and dozens of others are slightly injured and shaken up by the accident.

The train was due into La Crosse at 12:45 this afternoon.

Wrecking crews were immediately summoned from La Crosse and Prairie du Chien and the tracks cleared of them. They, with company physicians and Superintendent D.
Cunningham aboard, left the city immediately after receipt of the message telling of the disaster, and were on the scene in remarkably short time.

According to information received here late today the engine and four cars, including the mail, went into the burning bridge and are now on their sides in the ditch. Cars Nos.
5, 6 and 7, which include two coaches and a tourist car, are burning while the sleepers, dining and observation cars were left standing on the track and have been pulled back to safety.

The train, which was in charge of Conductor Boyle, is one of the Burling-ton's crack trains and is in the service direct to the Pacific coast.

While information to be obtained this afternoon is not definite it is practically certain that there were no fatalities although the escapes, from the meager information received here, were miraculous in the extreme.

Many of the coaches were of wooden construction and to this is attributed the fire which is now destroying the largest portion of the train.

The gas tank under the diner is said to have exploded immediately after the accident and ignited the dining car.

Charles Clark, a passenger on the train, who was found in the Trempealeau depot after the wreck, said that the engine was the only one of the cars that left the bridge that is standing upright. Mr. Clark is a dispatcher on the Burlington, stationed at La Crosse. He was returning to this city from Minneapolis.

"The engine is upright," he said this afternoon, "but only its front trucks are on the track. The other four cars are lying on their sides in the ditch, and will be destroyed by the fire which followed immediately after the crash."

"I do not know how it was that the engineer failed to see the smoke of the burning bridge. It was extremely lucky that no one was killed.
No one was hurt except by flying glass."

"The road will have only two of all the cars in the train. Those two are the last two cars."

Will Save the Cars L. M. Pittinger, Trempealeau, who visited the scene of the wreck this afternoon, said that only the last three cars of the train would be saved.

"There are only seven hurt," he told a reporter of The Tribune this afternoon, "and I do not think any of them are seriously injured."

"The engineer failed to see the burning bridge until he was almost upon it, as the bridge, which is really only a small culvert, was only ten rods from a sharp curve."

"The mail car and two baggage cars are afloat. They have both been emptied, and the track on either side of the wreck is piled high with mail bags and loose mail matter, as well as trunks and boxes."

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Because it's for One Thing Only, and La Crosse People Appreciate This Nothing can be good for everything.

Doing one thing well brings success.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for one thing only.

For weak or disordered kidneys.

Here is La Crosse evidence to prove their worth:

John B. Fries, 425 N. Ninth St., La Crosse, Wis., says: "My kidneys were disordered for at least ten years. The complaint always came on unexpectedly, lasting for a few weeks and then leaving me again, only to come back. Some of the attacks were very painful and the trouble seemed to affect mostly my back. The kidney secretions were disordered, too. I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. They relieved the ailments at once and soon fixed my kidneys up in good shape. It gives me pleasure to confirm the endorsements I have given Doan's Kidney Pills before. I certainly think highly of this reliable medicine."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Daddy's Bedtime

The Story of the Beautiful Golden Chrysanthemum.

The Japanese Lady and the Chrysanthemum.

VELYN brought the first chrysanthemum to show daddy. "Isn't it a funny flower?" Jack remarked. "Yes," Evelyn giggled. "It looks like a doll head covered with curly yellow hair." "So it does," daddy agreed. "And did you know it comes from the land where the people all have straight hair?" "Where's that?" asked Jack. "From Japan, where chrysanthemums are as plentiful at this season of the year as roses are with us in June. It is the emperor's favorite flower." "There is a dear little story which tells how the chrysanthemum first came to be. It is a madeup story, I am afraid, but very pretty." "Once upon a time there was a young couple in Japan who loved one another devotedly. They lived in a beautiful palace that had belonged to the husband's people for many hundreds of years. They were quite wealthy, and there seemed nothing that happy couple could ask for." "The wife was very good and never forgot to say her prayers and bring gifts of flowers and incense to the little altar of the god that stood in the garden." "One day as she prayed a beautiful little creature appeared before her. He looked just like the image of the god over the altar." "Your prayers and gifts have pleased me," said he. "What is there more that the gods can do for one so happy and so fortunate as you?" "The lady thought for a minute. One would have thought she could think of nothing more. Then suddenly she spoke." "Give my dear husband a long life," she asked. "The answer came as the figure faded from her sight." "He shall have as many years as any flower which you may choose has petals." "Now, no flower she knew of had many petals. The carnation seemed to have the most, and so she plucked a carnation and with her gold hairpin split up the petals until she had made many hundreds of curling ones." "Great was her joy to think of the many years of happiness she and her husband should have together, but she had forgotten one thing, and that was to ask for a long life for herself as well." "And when she remembered this she began to pine and fade away. She asked that when she died she might be laid among the flowers she loved, and from her grave sprang a great golden flower, the first chrysanthemum that was ever seen."

IN EVENT OF MOB OUTBREAKS

Declare Troops Should Be Placed Nearby to Protect the Financial District

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Five hundred Wall street bankers, brokers and merchants offering, as a chief reason, the statement that some day New York's financial district may fall into the hands of a mob, today forwarded to United States Senator O'Gorman a request that the government build new barracks on Governor's Island suitable for quartering a regiment of the regular army.

Governor's Island, owned by the government and situated in New York's inner harbor, is only twelve minutes away from the sub-treasury on Wall street. The bank presidents, bankers and others who signed the resolution now on its way to Washington point out that in case of an earthquake, a body of regular troops would be invaluable in protecting the sub-treasury. Regular troops would also be effective in the event of mob outbreaks, say the petitioners. The petition was circulated by Charles E. Warren, president of the Lincoln National bank, who declared that Wall street at present would be helpless in the hands of a mob.

WOMAN GETS TWO YEARS AT LABOR

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Sept. 18.—

The heaviest sentence ever passed by a court in this city or county for the offense charged, was today given by Judge Wickham to Mrs. Ida Barnhardt, this city, a widow and mother of six children, three of whom live with her, when he sentenced her to two years' hard labor at Waupun for keeping a house of ill fame. Mrs. Barnhardt had appealed from a conviction in a lower court, but in the midst of the trial in circuit court yesterday she suddenly decided to plead guilty. Sentence was passed today.

INDIAN ADVERTISES CHANGE OF NAME

DEVILS LAKE, N. D., Sept. 18.—When an Indian decides to change his name the process is simple. He either adopts a new name or he purchases a name from some other Indian.

Two Bears, a more or less prominent Indian on the Fort Totten reservation, recently decided to change his name, and accomplished that aim by inserting the following notice in a Devils Lake newspaper:

"Joseph S. Two Bears, he take another name. He quit the Two Bears and he take another name in this way—Joseph F. See Walker."

LIND GIVES BANQUET

Rear Admiral Fletcher, in command of the American warship flotilla, was the guest of honor, and among the guests were several Mexican officials, chief of whom was General Mass, military commander at Vera Cruz.

LET US GET TOGETHER ON WATER COMMISSION

That the new water plant, with its greater fixed expense of operation, presents an administrative problem of importance is indeed true. It can be solved, because it must be solved.
How, in detail, must be worked out by competent authority.
There can be no reasonable doubt that Mayor Sorensen's plan for a non-partisan commission is correct.
We should like to see it extended so that the present board of public works might be supplanted, thus bringing about a general reorganization of the city departments upon a sound basis. However, if conditions do not invite an attempt to make this change at this time, at least we should support the mayor in his plan to lodge the control of the new plant in able hands.
We understand there is some opposition to the mayor's plan. We regret to say that this opposition appears to be a manifestation of the unfortunate quarrel that belouds the administration, rather than bona fide objection to the commission idea.
The city council of La Crosse will have done its full duty if it shall authorize the establishment of a commission, turning its attention to the selection of a capable body of men to man it. Frank dealing between the mayor and the council, so that the personnel of the board may be mutually known in advance of the passage of the ordinance, should remove every obstacle. As a matter of fact, the mayor has mentioned to his friends, as his tentative choice, a body of citizens against whom no fair objection could be raised, and we are positive that he intends to be careful in the appointment of an organization upon the conduct of which the historian must largely base his estimate of the Sorensen administration.

BLIND? NO—MERELY ADROIT

"Never within our memory," says Collier, "has women's dress been more attractive than it is today. The soft lines, the tunic-like garments, loose and open at the throat, surely make for a comfort to which woman is too often a stranger. Barring in is too often a stranger. Barring certain small exaggerations, it is all fairly simple, too, and vastly more becoming than most of the fashions of yesteryear. Our masculine perception may be much beclouded, but should not these three points—comfort, attractiveness, simplicity—be the cardinal ones in dress? Until the age of paper clothes, foretold by Bellamy, arrives, the present fashion seems a very passable interregnum.

We only wish that woman, so active and alert in her more than dawning independence, were firm and independent enough to hold to a fashion that is good until she is certain of a better—and not foolishly, sheepishly, yield to a worse."

We should be at a loss to understand this did not the next ensuing editorial begin with the reflection that "Summer has won the name of the 'silly season.'" Or perhaps Mr.
Collier likes the scenery.

BAD ENOUGH BUT NOT BY COMPARISON

Despite republican and bull moose criticism of the democratic caucus methods, Senator John Sharp Williams has made this statement in the senate:

"This is the first tariff bill in the history of this country where the bill was submitted to a full and free and fair discussion of every one of the dominant party in a free and fair caucus, where every man could be heard and where they merely obeyed the will of the party."

Mr. Williams makes the point that, though the democrats on the floor are ruled by the caucus, this particular caucus has been controlled by honest majority opinion rather than by such extraneous log-rolling or senatorial courtesy agreements as fixed the Aldrich tariff schedules.
"What do you demand in the bill as compensation for your voting for the entire bill?" was Aldrich's inquiry of each senator.
The caucus must stand or fall by its separate merits (and its inherent viciousness, known of the people, insures its not distant doom), but we doubt that the present democratic caucus will fall by reason of comparison with the Aldrich caucus.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING COMES TO AN END

In a signed article in his magazine Senator La Follette tells what he thinks the tariff has been worth to the farmer. We quote:

"The farmer has derived on the great bulk of all that he produces but little direct benefit from the protective system. The duties on wool and beet sugar have been a material aid to the limited number of farmers growing wool and sugar beets.
The duty on wheat, barley, flax, poultry, vegetables, has yielded some protection to the farmers in the states contiguous to the Canadian border.
The same is true to a limited extent as to meats, and animals from which they are derived. But as to all these products, excepting wool and beet sugar, the advantage has been comparatively small and severely limited to the territory so located as to be brought into competition with imported products."

That in the past the farmer has been "persuaded to support the protective system" because he believed that "a well paid manufacturing population was the best guarantee of a well patronized farming population" is a fact which La Follette believes the farmer now knows to have failed to create a free "home market" because the powerful private interests, allied, and "built behind the protective tariff wall which he (the farmer) had helped to rear" * * * "owned and controlled this market" and "fixed prices arbitrarily."

It is the Senator's conclusion that "with the market in which he must buy all his manufactured products controlled largely, if not wholly, by combination, which has steadily increased the price of everything he buys, and with the market in which he must sell everything he produces controlled by combinations which arbitrarily fix the price that he receives, the farmer's support of the protective system will be a constantly diminishing factor as long as these conditions exist."

The Sentinel seems relieved because "the governor promises rigid economy." No doubt this foreshadows further increases in salaries of the governor's appointees.

General Otis' life was saved by a Chinese servant. Will the Los Angeles Times continue to talk of the "yellow peril?"

Owing to the scarcity of coffee "T.
R." should emulate the kaiser and take to lemonade—with a (big) stick in it.

A Milwaukee modiste has designed a new skirt with four slits. Again slits will make Milwaukee famous.

The Sentinel says the democrats have "scared Bob." They couldn't scare Mr. Taft.

A "man of vision" is one who never misses a diaphanous gown or a slit skirt.

O gypsy, what is the worth of life, and why do ye sing all day, When there's work to do in the fertile fields, a-reck with new mown hay?
I sing, I faith, of the skies above and the world that spreads beneath—
There's a road that runs to the ends of the earth, and a wind on the open heath!

O gypsy, what will ye leave the world, or ever ye come to die?
I'll leave the sun and the lovers' moon, the gift of an empty sky—
A lightsome heart and a roving foot, but the best that I may bequeath.
Is a road that runs to the ends
open heath!

Mixed Church Announcement
A clergyman was anxious to introduce some hymnbooks into the church, and arranged with his clerk that the latter was to give out the notice immediately after the sermon.
The clerk, however, had a notice of his own to give out with reference to the baptism of infants. Accordingly, at the close of the sermon he arose and announced that "all those who have children whom they wish to have baptized please send in their names at once to the clerk." The clergyman, who was stone deaf, assumed that the clerk was giving out the hymnbook notice, and immediately rose and said: "And I should say for the benefit of those who haven't any, that they may obtain some from the ushers any day from 3 to 4 o'clock; the ordinary little ones at 25 cents each and special ones at 50 cents."

Reducing the Tariff Johnny's mother had instituted a fine of 10 cents for every spot made on the tablecloth. One day Johnny was observed rubbing his finger for a long time over the cloth at his plate.
"John, what are you doing?" said his mother at last.
"Nothing. I was just trying to rub two spots into one."—Judge.

A Question of Belief A teacher, instructing her class on the composition of sentences, wrote two on the blackboard, one to exemplify a misstatement of fact and the other to illustrate bad grammar. The sentences thus read as follows:
"The hen has three legs. Who done it?"
The teacher then called to one of the children.
"Harry," she said, "go to the blackboard and show where the fault lies in those sentences." Harry slowly approached the blackboard, evidently thinking hard.
Then he took the chalk and wrote: "The hen never done it. God done it."

Anticipation
"Allo, Bill! You do look pale and thin, Bill! Wot's wrong, Bill? Been ill, Bill?"
Thus spoke one jovial frequenter of the gutter to a friend he had not seen for weeks.
Bill passed a horny hand across his brow.
"No," he answered. "I ain't been ill; it's work—work from 10 in the morning till 9 at night, and only one hour's rest. Think of it, mate!"
"Lumme!" replied Bill's mate.
"And where are yer workin'?" "Ow long have yer been there?"
"I ain't been there yet," retorted Bill, with a groan. "I begin tomorrow!"—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

Gladstone's Subterfuge Once, when Gladstone was very old, he was traveling, and at every station the people in hordes insisted on shaking his hand. As Gladstone was in poor health, this began to weaken him considerably.
So a secret service man knelt beside Gladstone, and from beneath Gladstone's rug shook hands with the people through the window one by one.

This scheme worked very well, indeed. Gladstone's strength was restored, but his admirers, after their false handshake, would comment after this fashion:

A Romance of Extraordinary Distinction
The Marshal
By Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews Author of The Perfect Tribute, etc.
Copyright, The Bobbs-Merrill Company

"Eh bien, there, the Marshal!" would come thundering from the great table across the room; and the scribe would drop his pen and scuttle over the dim wide place.
"Yes, Monsieur the Seigneur. I am, here."
"Listen then, my soldier. I am uncertain if this that I have written is of importance. It is interesting to me, because Gaspard Gourgand was there, yet I do not wish to ram Gaspard Gourgand down a reader's throat. So listen, you marmot, as an officer of rank, and as a literary critic, and say truthfully if you find it interesting." Francis squatted on a stool exactly in front of the general, with his knees together and his elbows on them, his chin in the hollow of his hands. His eyes were glued on the general's face. In a deep voice the general read. It was an account of that world-tragedy, the retreat from Moscow. First came a list of regiments and of officers, with detailed accounts of early service in both; it was exact, accurate. For five minutes the general read this; then his black eyebrows lifted and he glared over the paper.
"You find it interesting?" he demanded.
Francis, lips compressed, shook his head firmly. "No, my Seigneur.
Not at all." And the general's gaze concentrated fiercely on the humble patch of brown homespun. The boy's great eyes met his calmly.
"I agree with you," the general said, and sorted the papers over and laid some away. "You are an uncommon critic." He went on. "You speak the truth. It is what I want." Selecting a sheet or two, he began to read again.
"Over the frozen roads the worn army still trudged; every form or misery trudged with them. Hunger was there, and cold, and suffering of wounds, and suffering of lack of clothing; more than this, there was the constant dread of attack from flying bands of Cossacks. From time to time frightful explosions made one turn one's head—it was the caissons exploded by order of the emperor that they might no longer encumber us. The snow fell.
The low-hanging sky was heavy with more snow-clouds; often a wind cut to our ill-covered bones; the road was sleety; the worn shoes of the emaciated horses slipped on the frozen ground; the soldiers put their shoulders to the wheels to help their horses."

Through the reverberating tones of the old soldier cut a child's sigh.
The bushy eyebrows arched and a glance over the paper at the tense small figure. The voice went on.
"The Emperor marched on foot with us. Staff in hand, wrapped in a large loose cloak, a furred Russian cap on his head, he walked in the midst of his household, encouraging with a word, with a smile, every one who came near him. At night he slept often in a cabin without doors or windows, his rough bed screened with difficulty; he shared our sorrows, our Little Corporal, our Emperor. He was pale, but calm as always, for his face never showed his mind. Over frozen roads of Russia, strewn with the men and horses who were killed by fatigue and famine, day after day Napoleon walked with his army."

There was no sound now, but the

SELF RESTRAINT.
For want of self restraint many men are engaged all their lives in fighting with difficulties of their own making and rendering success impossible by their own crossgrained ungentleness, while others, it may be, much less gifted, make their way and achieve success by simple patience, equanimity and self control.

A Good Guess
A young doctor settled in a country town and hung out his "shingle." After waiting two weeks for a patient he was awakened one night by an old farmer who wanted him right away for his boy, who had been suddenly stricken with a severe pain in the region of the stomach.

The young M. D. hastened to the house and found the boy lying on the bed in evident pain and surrounded by three family and neighbors. He looked at the patient for a moment, then wishing to impress them all with his superior knowledge of medical terms, he spread out his chest and said:
"This should cause you no alarm.
It is nothing but a corrutified exgesis, antispasmodically emanating from the germ of the animal refrigerator, producing a prolific source of irritability in the pericranial epidermis of intestinal profundity." The farmer looked at him a moment and replied: "Now, that's just what I sed it wuz, but my wife sez 'lowed it wuz worms.'"—National Monthly.

IN The WORLD
OF WOMEN

A trade and training school for women is to be erected in El Paso, Texas, with money provided by the will of the late Frank B. Cotton. The institution will be free and is designed to teach women simple occupations which will enable them to earn an honest living.

Business and professional women of St. Louis have organized a Town club where brief lectures on current topics and vital subjects will be given by experts worth the benefit of those who do not have time to study the big problems of the day.

The National Federation Settlements conference, which opens in Pittsburg, September 24, will have as the guest of honor Miss Julia Lathrop, head of the Federal Children's bureau.

Miss E. F. Horniman of the Gaiety Theater, Manchester, is regarded as one of the most successful theater managers in England. She has produced more than 100 plays of the world's foremost writers.

Brooklyn, N. Y., will have a wo-

GIRLS! HAVE BEAUTIFUL, LUSTROUS, FLUFFY HAIR—25 CENT DANDERINE

No more dandruff or falling hair—A real surprise awaits you

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.
It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair —taking one small strand at a time.
Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

SAFETY ORDERS ARE MADE PUBLIC

Milwaukee Puts Ban on Pushing Hand Cars Loaded with Laborers Before Trains

* Two orders that were issued this morning to La Crosse division employees of the Milwaukee railroad will, if carried out prove of importance in the saving of life and the conservation of railroad property. They are in line with the advanced steps being taken by the "Safety First" committee of the Milwaukee. One of the orders instructs trainmen and crews of all freight trains to discontinue the practice of pushing hand cars with laborers in front of trains. The practice has been employed by train crews in helping laborers home from their work, and has resulted within the past few years in the death of several men.

Within the past few days a serious accident occurred on another division of the Milwaukee railroad from protruding timbers on trains striking a bridge as the train passed. The orders issued state that all trains shall be thoroughly gone over and examined to see whether there is any possible chance of timbers working loose while the train is in motion.

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1908 I was attacked by muscular and inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried every remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I am now as well as ever. I am afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case. I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for relief, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Don't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

CONSTABLE KILLS NEGRO HOLD-UP

NORTH PORTAL, Sask., Sept. 18.—In a daring holdup which took place in the railroad yard at this point, and in which several harvesters were robbed, T. Neal, a negro from Arkansas, was shot by Constable T. Wagner. The bullet entered Neal's back and passed through him. The negro continued running for two blocks, when he collapsed. He died on the way to the hospital.

JURY FINDS MAN GUILTY OF MURDER

VIRGINIA, Minn., Sept. 18.—After one hour and thirty minutes' deliberation the jury in the case of Homer Lecquer, charged with killing Louis Fernie, found him guilty of murder in the first degree. Lecquer killed Fernie and later burned his body. All the evidence was circumstantial.

ACCOUNTANCY BOARD FORMS AT CAPITAL

KEMNITZ FUNERAL TODAY

The funeral services for Mrs. F. H. Kemnitz, former resident of this city, who died Tuesday morning at her home in Milwaukee, were held this morning from the home of Mrs. Charlotte Bauer and Miss Josephine Koenig, 420 South Fifth street, at 8:30. Services were held later at 8 o'clock from St. Joseph's cathedral. Burial was made at the Catholic cemetery.

ENLARGING PLANT

A slight enlargement is being made on the plant of the Staats' Pennant company, corner of Rublee and Charles streets. The amount of business that has been done during the past several months by the firm has caused them to rearrange their machine and cutting rooms. The entire basement of the plant is now being used for cutting rooms.

Imitation Diamonds.

The white sapphire, the white topaz and rock crystal are commonly sold as diamonds, but more often imitations are made of glass. To recognize these glass imitations, treatment with acids is also recommended, which removes the polish on the facets, while it does not affect the diamond, ruby, sapphire or emerald. However, an imitation made of glass yields to the hardness test, so that a chemical test is superfluous.

Wooden-Legged Duck Thrives.

A wooden-legged duck lives and thrives at Airvault, a little village in Bordeaux, France. At a recent meeting of the local natural history society, the chairman told of the duck which had its leg crushed in a stable door. Its owner, a peasant woman, amputated the leg and replaced it with a wooden one which she manufactured herself. The duck is now able to get about the farmyard with perfect ease.

Women Are Independent.

Rheta Childs Dorr says that the women of Finland share in everything with the men and are chimney sweepers and hod carriers as well as clerks and stenographers. She says that most of the unmarried women have money, which they have earned themselves, and it is almost impossible to find one of them depending on father or brother.

Wise-napen wog.

A French scientist possesses a dog which, having been born without hind legs, has supplied nature's deficiency and has learned to walk and even to run quite swiftly on its two front legs. It holds the upright position with the greatest ease, turns, stops, stands resting, eats its food, etc., with its hind quarters poised over its head. It is said not to be more wearied by exercise than an ordinary dog.

MANY HOBOES FOR WORK ON STREETS

Nineteen Now in City 'Jug' and Will Be Started Out Under Special Policeman Tomorrow

The city now has at its command a crew of nineteen laborers who will proceed to make the streets look like a new pin, the parks to blossom forth only as they can under constant care and the alleys to cleanly appearance such as they have not exhibited for many days past.

All this isn't to cost the city an extra penny for the workers are the "bums" picked up by the police and sentenced to do work for the city to earn the food they consume during the days they spend in the city lock-up.

Mayor Ori J. Sorensen this morning named George Ritter, superintendent of parks and Dan Larson and John Conway, employees of the board of public works, special policemen to guard over the men while they are at work in the open.

The three special policemen are already employees of the city and will receive no increase in pay for their work.

The first crew will in all probability be employed by the park commission at the levee park. There is a large amount of rip-rapping to be done there.

Later, when that work is completed, George Falk, commissioner of streets, has ample employment for the men.

The plan to work the tramps is intended as a means of driving this "undesirable" from the city.

Unwise Kindness.

Occasionally a man gets by with a tremendous bluff simply because his friends are kind-hearted and hate to spoil a beautiful specimen of self-esteem.

RADIUM APPEARS AS CANCER CURE

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Physicians were greatly interested today in the accounts of remarkable improvements and perhaps cures of cancers by the use of radium, published in the Daily Mail. The story told of experiments with radium in Middlesex hospital. In at least two of the cases, cancerous growths entirely disappeared, after being treated with a platinum tube containing radium for a period of twelve hours. The physicians making the tests refused to call the instances "cures" but rather "improvements" because, they said, sufficient time has not elapsed to indicate that the disappearance of the cancers is permanent.

Prompt Relief?

Mrs. Lizzie Dodson, of Greeley, Mo., says: "I was sick last spring and suffered such misery! I couldn't stand on my feet more than a little while at one time, and was not able to do my work. I asked my husband to get me some CARDUI, and although he said it wouldn't do me any good, he went for it. By night I felt like a different woman. I am now as strong as I ever was in my life. CARDUI is a good medicine. I can't praise it too highly for what it has done in my case. I recommend it to all my friends and neighbors, and would advise all women who suffer to try it."

Both Sides Confident

At the opening of the trial both sides professed the utmost confidence.

But the men who have been following the progress of events were admittedly puzzled. A month ago, when the original charges were filed, it seemed almost certain that Sulzer would be removed. The votes were there against him. But as the result of the wide campaign that has been made on his behalf there has been a change in sentiment. Today it was certain that the result would be very close.

CORNICE FALLS ON PARADE WATCHERS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 18.—One person is dead today, another is not expected to live and several persons are seriously injured as the result of an accident that marred the climax of the Perry centennial celebration, which was perhaps the greatest feature Cleveland has ever had. While a crowd was watching the ten mile long parade of military, naval and civic organizations, the heavy stone cornice of a three story building on Superior avenue fell, instantly crushing the life out of Thomas Nezhada and fatally injuring Lillian Koehendoerfer.

Scores of others standing near were hit by bounding bricks and pieces of stone.

AUTO BANDITS SHOOT SHERIFF

Ohio Officer Pursuing Men Who Robbed Tourists on Lonely Road Is Wounded

HIS ASSAILANT IS CAPTURED

Two Other Confederates Escape in Stolen Machine and Are Not Found

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 18.—After pursuing three daring automobile bandits several miles, Sheriff S. S. Wine-land of Williams county, was shot twice in the head and seriously wounded after engaging in a revolver duel with one of the trio. The man who wounded the sheriff, was captured later by a posse of farmers. He gave his name as Robert Duffey of Buffalo, N. Y. The shooting of the sheriff followed a daring robbery on a lonely road near Bryan, Ohio, shortly after midnight. Three young men, well dressed and riding in a big gray car, held up an auto touring party consisting of Herman G. Luyties, president of the Sanitol Chemical Laboratory company of St. Louis; W. E. Krieger, New York manager of the Sanitol company; G. M. Bye of St. Louis, also connected with the Sanitol company, and Mrs. E. Smith and daughter, Alice, both of Chicago.

After stripping the tourists of their jewelry and other valuables, the bandits drove off with their own and Luyties' car. The bandits obtained about $100 in cash and $250 worth of jewelry. Miss Smith saved $800 worth of jewelry by hiding it in her mouth.

Following the holdup Luyties ran to a farmhouse and notified Sheriff Wine-land by telephone. He immediately started in pursuit of the bandits.

When near the home of Peter Siegel, a few miles from the scene of the robbery, the officers saw two automobiles stranded in the road. Standing on the front porch of the Siegel house was a young man and as the sheriff approached he pulled a gun and opened fire.

After an exchange of shots, in which Wine-land was wounded, the young man dashed away. The other two men with him also fled in one of the automobiles. A posse of farmers and deputies is still searching the surrounding country.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 18.—Three auto bandits who the police believe to be the ones implicated in the hold up in Ohio last night, whizzed through Detroit at terrific speed, early today, exchanging shots with local policemen who had been warned to watch for them. The police "flier" was ordered onto the trail of the fugitives, but was distanced.

J., the men who passed worthless checks on two La Crosse merchants, entered pleas of guilty before County Judge John Brindley yesterday afternoon and were bound over to the circuit court for sentence. The penalty is from one to ten years in the penitentiary.

Queer Fable About Cotton.

When cotton first came to Europe to make its principal center in Lancashire it was the subject of the quaint and wonderful fable of the "Vegetable Lamb." The fluffy white fibers of the bursting cotton pod so resembled sheep's wool that travelers reported that in Tartary there grew a shrub the fruit or boll of which contained "withinn a lyltle Beaste in Flesche, in Bone and Bloode, as though it were a lyltle Lambe with outer wool." After the lamb had been eaten the wool was made into cloth, continued this story, which is the earliest European account of the manufacture of cotton.

CALIFORNIAN INVENTS FREAK AEROPLANE WHICH HE SAYS WILL MAKE AERIAL TRAVEL QUITE SAFE; INTERESTS A CONGRESSMAN

Carl Browne and his "octoplane."

Carl Browne, an odd old Californian, has invented the "octoplane," which he says has solved the problem of safe aerial travel. His machine is built on the principle of the monoplane, but instead of having one fixed plane at the forward end it has eight revolving ones, four on each side. He has interested Congressman Kent of California in the invention and it is said the congressman is back of it financially.

INVESTIGATOR IS HELD AS TRAITOR

Assistant State's Attorney Arrested for Selling Prosecution Secrets to Arson Defense

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Charles Furthman, an investigator in the office of State's Attorney Hoynes, ranking as an assistant state's attorney and one of the men credited with ferreting out the working of the "million dollar arson trust," in Chicago, is under arrest today charged with selling the secrets of the arson prosecution, to men under indictment.

The arrest was made by two detectives working under the direction of Hoynes. Furthmann denounced his arrest as a "frame up" designed to cause his removal from office because he is a republican hold-over from the former administration.

Allege Safe Robbery

Furthmann is charged by Hoynes with having robbed the safe in the state's attorney's office two weeks ago and extracted the confession of Benjamin Pink, confessed firebug, who admitted having set fire to more than 100 buildings. Hoynes alleges that Furthmann had copies of the confession made and sold them to a friend of the Morico brothers, Antonio, Augustino and Felippo, each under indictment in connection with the arson trust prosecutions.

The price alleged to have been paid Furthmann for copies of the confessions was $2,000. Hoynes charges that all but $250 of this amount was paid and that when Furthmann insisted on the last payment the deal was tipped off to Hoynes' office.

Given Marked Bills

Two detectives followed Furthmann to the Plaza hotel last night. There, according to Hoynes, the investigator met the friend of the three indicted men, who paid him the $250 in bills that had previously been photographed. Hoynes asserts that the bills were found in Furthmann's possession when he was arrested.

Furthmann was today released on $5,000 bail. He was to be arraigned at a preliminary hearing this afternoon.

THAW IS OCCUPANT OF THRONE ROOM

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 18.—Presidents Pierce, Hayes, Taft and Roosevelt—and Harry K. Thaw. They have all occupied room No. 7 of the Eagle hotel here, which Winston Churchill made immortal as the "throne room" in his novel "Coniston."

Thaw is quartered there awaiting Governor Felker's hearing next Tuesday on his extradition. Thaw, technically a prisoner under the guardianship of United States Marshal Nute of Concord, and Sheriff Drew of Colebrook, was allowed to leave the hotel twice today, once on a shopping trip to buy clothing and again on a sight-seeing tour of the town. Marshal Nute promised him a horseback ride later in the day.

Thaw's mother, Mrs. Mary C. Thaw, has engaged the suite adjoining the "throne room," and is coming from Montreal to remain with her son.

THREE CASES UP FOR U. S. COURT

One of the principal cases to be tried here at the next term of the United States court which convenes October 9, will be a suit to recover $30,000 damages, the action of John McLees against Stoll and Chase of Viroqua. McLees claims this much is due him as a result of trading Vernon county farm land for the Gallatin ranch in Montana.

Only two other cases are thus far entered for trial during this term, one, the case brought by the Sprague Canning Machinery company against E. J. Vandrenil and the other an admiralty proceeding instituted by George A. Brown against the steamer Morning Star as a result of the crushing of his launch against the sheer boom of the Mississippi wagon bridge the early of this month.

George A. Aylward, who has been appointed attorney to succeed Geo. H. Gordon, will appear for the first time in this position in La Crosse.

Following are the ten petit jurors appointed by Jury Commissioner John F. Doherty and certified to before the Deputy Clerk of the United States Court Alfred Harrison, for the term of federal court which convenes here October 9.

GOVERNOR GIVEN LITTLE ATTENTION

Attempts to Speak at Chipewa Falls Futile in Competition with Horse Race and Motordome

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., Sept. 18.—Governor McGovern, competing with a horse race and a noisy motordome attempted to address the crowd at the fair here this afternoon.

The governor was permitted fifteen minutes in which to talk to the crowds but in his enthusiasm over the market commission—which was his chief topic for oratory—overstepped that time.

The race starter hesitated a minute, expecting the governor to end his address. Then, seeing no end to the oratorical fire works in sight, strode across the track into the judges' stand and sounded the gong for the horses to take their places.

Immediately crowds rushed to points in the stand where the race could be watched, leaving the governor talking to a mere handful of spectators. At this point in the proceedings a motordome near the grand stand started business, completely drowning the governor's words, despite his great effort to make himself heard. The general hubbub was so great that he terminated his speech in the middle. He at times called attention to the noise and requested that he be given a hearing.

A Difference in Opinion.

A man who had always lived in the same town had a visit from a former resident and was showing him around the place. They visited all the principal places of interest.

"Well," said the former resident sarcastically, "the time was when I could have bought this whole blamed town site for a couple of hundred dollars; but, believe me, I didn't think it was worth it."

"Indeed!" replied the other man. "It wouldn't have been if you had bought it."—Detroit Free Press.

La Crosse Board of Trade Sends Big Delegation to Neighboring City This Morning

TO SPEND ENTIRE DAY THERE

Greeted at Depot by Mayor Chase and Others, and Will Return to City at Supper Time

A crowd numbering over 100 left this morning to attend the Viroqua fair. Today is La Crosse day at the big exposition and the La Crosse board of trade has been active for the last three days disposing of the tickets to the show in the neighboring city.

The La Crosse delegation left the C. B. & Q. depot at 9 o'clock this morning over the La Crosse & South-eastern railway and were accompanied by the Kreutz band.

The party arrived at Viroqua before noon and were met at the depot by Mayor Frank Chase and prominent business men of that place. They were taken about the city, some in automobiles, and after dinner adjourned to the fair grounds where they visited all of the exhibits and spent much time witnessing the splendid race program, a feature of this year's fair.

One of the features of the fair there this afternoon is the concert by the La Crosse band.

The party will leave Viroqua on the return trip at 6 o'clock this evening, arriving in La Crosse at 8 o'clock.

"The relations between Viroqua and La Crosse," said John L. Utermoehl, secretary of the board of trade, "are the most intimate, both in a business and social way. Viroqua contributes much to our La Crosse merchants and the tour to the neighboring city today will do much to cement the warm feeling between the two places."

Bees Make Own Hours of Labor.

Some bees apparently work on the eight hour schedule, others on a ten or twelve hour basis for their working day. A bee keeper says that one of his bee colonies begins its day's labor at sunrise and continues till after dark, making a working day two or three hours longer than any other colony in over a hundred. No two colonies of bees, says this apiarist, are alike.

Pilgrims and Puritans.

The pilgrims, or, as they are often called, the "pilgrim fathers," were the seventy-four men and the twenty-eight women, members of the John Robinson's church, who sailed in the Mayflower from Leyden to North America and landed at Plymouth Rock, 25, 1620. The Puritans were the English nonconformists who came over later, the name being given to them on account of their supposed great purity of doctrine, life and discipline.

Simple English!

"A certain quality of force and directness, owing to its simplicity, would seem to be unattainable through any other medium, and a realization of this is probably the incentive to the dialect story, so uniformly unsuccessful, because the writer is an imitator and not writing his native language."—A philologist heaping encomiums on simple English in the New York Sun.

EMPLOYER GRASPS MAID'S ANKLES AS SHE HURLS SELF FROM FOURTH FLOOR WINDOW AND HOLDS TILL HELP COMES

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—While a crowd of several thousand persons stood in the street looking on, Mrs. Sigmund Straus held the feet of her maid, Rose Dieci, as the latter swung like a pendulum from the sill of a window four stories above the ground. Just as the maid, bent on suicide, nearly dragged Mrs. Straus out of the window, a policeman rushed into the room and saved both by dragging them back to safety. Mrs. Straus entered the room just as her maid leaped out of the window, Mrs. Straus had just time to grasp her by the ankles.

"CASCARETS" THE BEST LAXATIVE

If constipated, bilious, headachy, Stomach sour—Clean up tonight!

Get a 10-cent box now.
You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular, and head clear for months. Don't forget the children.
They love Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

THREE CHAIRS

By MOLLY McMASTER

Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

As Enid ensconced herself in her steamer chair for the return trip westward there was considerable martyrdom expressed in her piquant face. Her self imposed exclusiveness was not going to be pleasant, but—it was necessary. She had decided, at the last minute, to enter the big musical competition going on at the conservatory in Berlin. The eight days on the water would be almost the remaining days left to competitors and Enid determined to send back a composition.

She gazed more or less wistfully at the unusually interesting passenger list and then cast a glance at the empty chairs, one on each side of her own. She had engaged those chairs that she might not be disturbed as she sat on deck. The deck steward had looked his amazement when Enid had ordered the names, Mr. John Doyle and Mr. Edward Doyle placed upon the cards on the backs of the chairs.

"At least," sighed Enid, "I am insured against bores."

She resigned herself to a voyage of concentration on matters musical nor did she dare raise her eyes to passersby. Enid's eyes had a way of inviting a second look and a second look meant conversation which, if she intended to enter the Berlin competition, must be denied.

During the first day out great books on harmony and composition lay on Enid's lap or on one of the vacant chairs. She seemed not to hear the slightest suggestion for a theme and the notes she jotted down from time to time were far from musically perfect. She closed her eyes and tried to hear a melody in the steady tramp of feet or the chug of the engines.

Up on the forward deck George Newman interviewed the deck steward.

"Who do those chairs belong to—those on either side of the young lady with the straw colored hair and brown coat? They are never occupied." Newman smiled his genial smile at the steward.

"The young lady engaged them, sir—she 'ad to concentrate or—" the steward fumbled for added reasons, ended with a grin. Newman put a half crown in his hand and departed to the library.

He came up a moment later and in his hands were many magazines on all of which he had written in large letters the name of John Doyle. Also on the steamer rug he had put a tag bearing the same name. After that he went along the deck and stopping at many unoccupied chairs made a splendid appearance of looking for his own.

When he reached the one beside Enid he smiled as if in satisfaction and proceeded to make himself comfortable, taking infinite care to have the corner of his rug which bore the name near the girl. Also he left his magazine face upward on his lap so that the name could not escape her eyecase.

Enid had watched with gathering mystery the maneuvers of the man whose long, lithe frame so amply filled her own chair. She dared not turn and look at him and accuse him of taking her chair, because that would be an opening for a conversation.
Nor could she, after she had seen the name on his books, feel angry toward him. It was naturally not his fault if she had chosen a name possessed by a fellow traveler.

However, it was quite evident that he was not going to disturb her by talking. Enid sighed. There were other ways of disturbing one besides talking. She realized after a short time that every slight movement on his part was going to prove interesting to her. She felt instinctively that she would like John Doyle and it began to irritate her that he continued his absorbed thoughts with apparent indifference to her nearness.

He got up later and strolled about the deck. Enid noticed with a sullen sense of jealousy that he more than once stopped to talk with attractive feminine travelers. She tried desperately to concentrate on her music, but always he dominated her brain.
Never, in all her years, had she so suddenly become interested in one of the opposite sex. Perhaps they had always come more than half way to meet her. Yes, it was undoubtedly only a sense of pique that hurt her.

During the afternoon he stood close beside her talking with a beautiful girl. Enid heard his low voiced banter and the echo in a high treble of the girl's. Suddenly Enid's cheeks flushed and her eyes grew luminous.
A lightning flash of inspiration had seized her. She would write a composition called "Flirtation."

The genius in her was fired and oblivious now to all save her work; she heard only the low bass of the man followed by, or mingling with, the treble and through it all, supporting it and lending a steady rhythm was the motion of the boat.
Enid had her theme, her time and her melody.

Her fountain pen splashed note upon note across the staff and Enid lay back an hour or so later exhausted, but with the pleasurable sensation of having turned out a splendid piece of work. No longer was she sullenly jealous. No longer did she desire an unoccupied chair on either side of her. She wanted more than anything else to hear the sound of voices talking to her.

She tucked her precious composition within one of the great books on harmony and closed her eyes for a moment's rest.

When she opened them the first thing she saw was the owner of the bass voice that had suggested her music. A slow blush mounted her cheeks when she realized that she had been sleeping. As she awakened fully to consciousness a smile both appealing and direct was sent straight into John Doyle's eyes. At least Enid supposed him to be John Doyle. A bare second later and she had surreptitiously but very effectively loosened her rugs so that she was exposed to the chilling breezes.

"Shall I tuck you up again?" Newman asked with a smile that told him her ruse was quite evident.

"Of course," she mocked daintily.

"Nor did I," Newman unblushingly informed her, "but when one wants something badly—there is not so much in a name, is there?"

Rivals Her Daughter in Youthful Beauty

(From Social Register.)

A well known society matron whose youthful beauty is so well preserved that she is regarded as her daughter's rival in this respect—though she does not pose as such—attributes her girlish complexion chiefly to two things. She says:

"I am convinced that creams, by overloading the skin and pores, tend to age the complexion. Mercorized wax has just the opposite effect. It keeps the pores clean, permitting them to breathe, and removes dead particles of cuticle which are constantly appearing and which give the complexion that faded look. Whenever my skin begins to get the least bit off-color, I go to my druggist's for an ounce of mercorized wax; I apply this nightly, like cold cream, for a week or so, washing it off mornings. This is what keeps my complexion so fresh, white and velvety.

"The absence of wrinkles and flabbiness I owe to the use of a simple face bath prepared by dissolving one ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This keeps the skin 'tight' and firm."—Advertisement.

COSTUMES FOR THE PROMENADE

BY MAY MANTON

PERHAPS right here you would like to know how to wear your hair this fall with your new frocks and hats, for of course your hair dressing must be in style, too. Usually the contour of the head is shown by dressing the hair flat and close in a casque form. Another style is to wave the hair and draw it up high in the back and pile it on the front of the head. The ends are curled or tucked under the hair to make a slight roll. This is a particularly becoming style for the hats that turn up in the back, which this season will be worn perching toward the front, showing much of the hair.

Narrow velvet ribbon bands elaborately or simply ornamented with metal and jeweled medallions are worn on the hair in Greek style. Either silver or gold gauze is fashioned into a hair band and ornamented at intervals with long pearls or jewels set in metal. If you make these bands, finish the ends with flat loops for hairpins in order to hold the band firmly to the head.

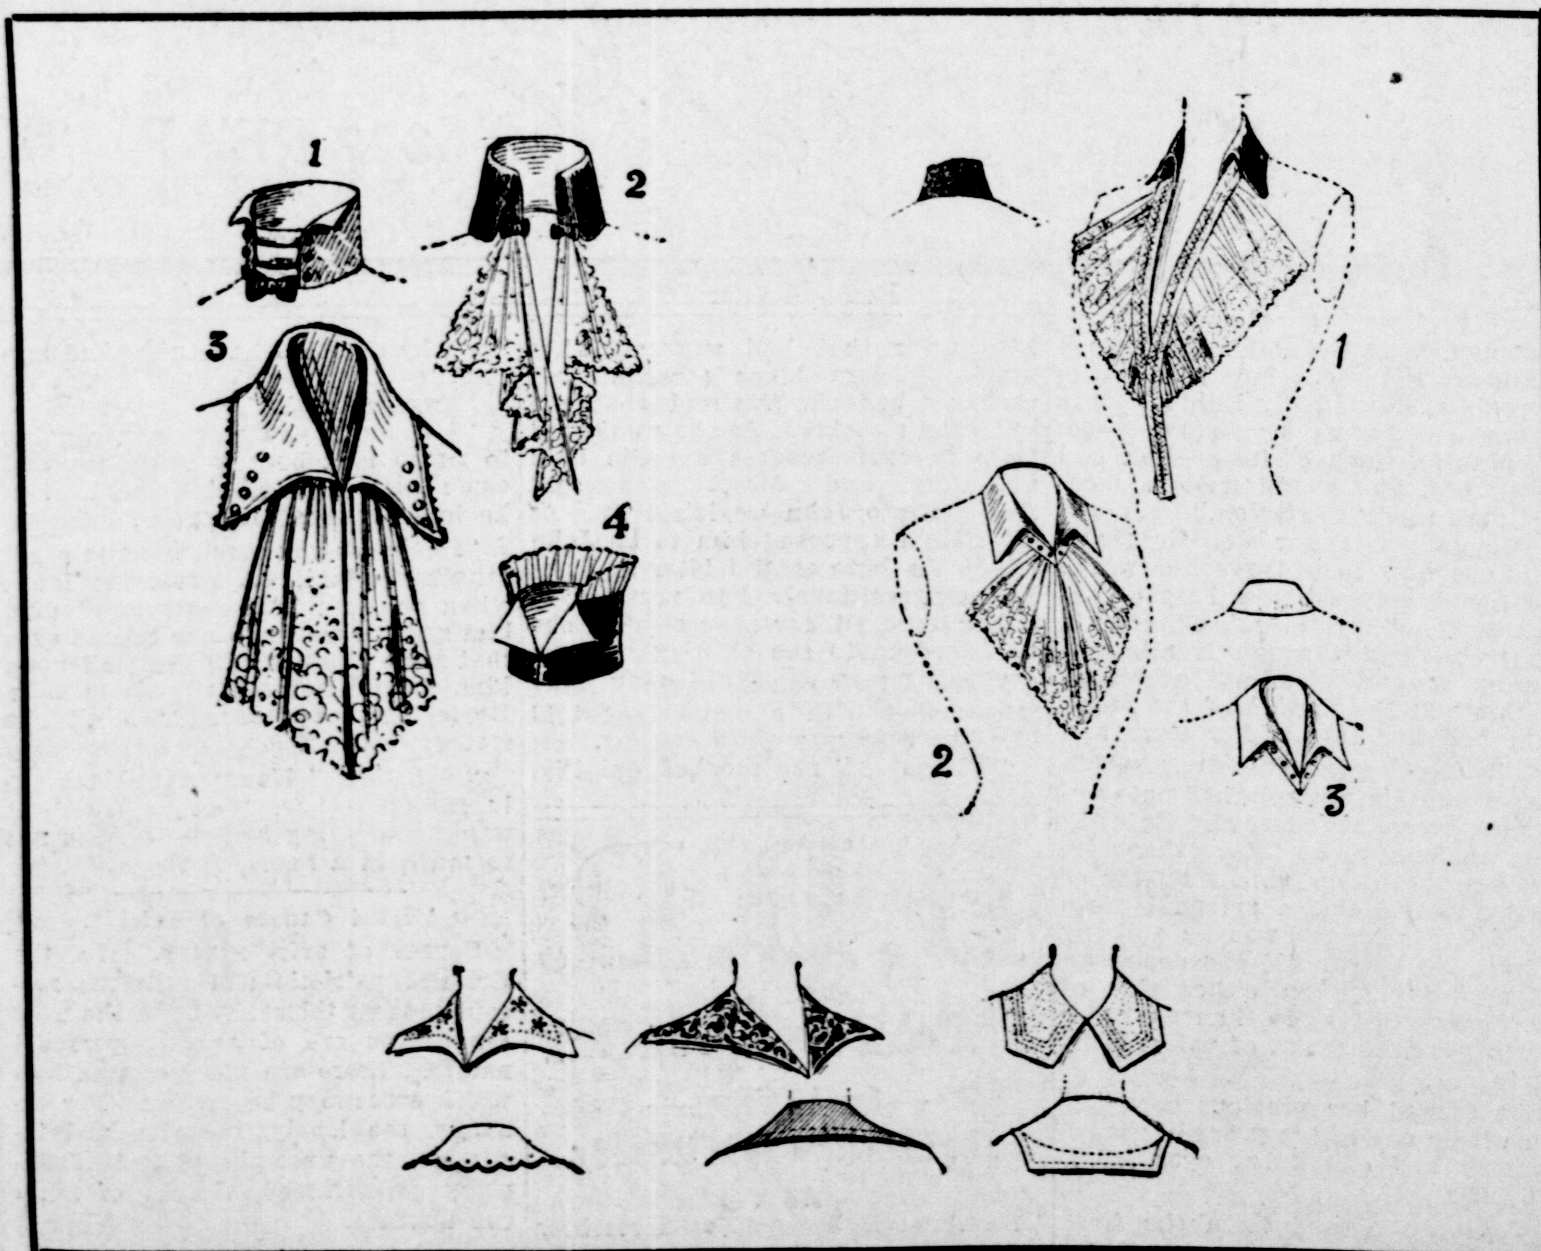

FASHIONS for the autumn are so fascinating that every normal woman is sure to want as many costumes as possible. Fabrics are almost bewilderingly beautiful. They are of an unprecedented variety and in really superb colors. Velvet finished materials are among the hand-somest and are especially smart, and wool velours give a surface that is even handsomer for street use than the silk velvet. It is to be found plain, in stripes and in brocaded effects. Frequently the fancy material is used to trim the plain or the plain to trim the fancy. Velvet, velveteen and corduroy will be much worn also, and among the sturdy fabrics for everyday use are to be found serges, chevrons and ratinés that are a delight. Brocades are to be much noted and some very brilliant colors are to be used in their making. For the most part, however, these are to be reserved for vests, collars and trimming portions, for it is in this way that they make the best effect. Green and dull old gold or mustard shade will be extensively worn and blue is to be a pronounced favorite, while black is always used as relief, and black and white costumes continue to be smart. For the early season street gowns will be in demand as well as coat suits and Oriental sashes and wide girdles make attractive accessories. In a general way it may be said that the draped skirt is the favorite, but for street wear the drapery, for the most part, is found at the front. It is just full enough to make graceful lines and folds without adding materially to the weight or bulk. Since everything fashionable is soft even suitings drape successfully.

THIS season has been exceedingly generous in supplying pretty collars. Here are four, all unusually attractive yet each different from the others. No. 1 is designed to be made of two contrasting colors. It is rather high with turned back points at the front and there is a plaited portion across the front. Black satin, with lining and front portion of white or any pretty color, would be good for the making. No. 2 is a high turned over collar open at the front and finished on each side by a lace jabot. No. 3 is a rather wide, turned over collar and is finished at the front with deep falls of lace. In the illustration, the edges are finished with a tiny picot edge and the points are trimmed with buttons, and the effect is most attractive. No. 4 is very high but is turned back at the top in front to give a glimpse of the throat. The upper edge is finished by an up-standing frill that increases the effect of height without discomfort.

IN the next illustration are three collars, practically four, for No. 3 can be made round in place of square. No. 3 is made with the points over the shoulders that are so well liked and the three styles include all the prevailing ones. As shown here, No. 1 is made of eyelet embroidery, No. 2 is made of ratinés and No. 3 is made of Bulgarian silk in one view and of plain silk in the other; but each one of these collars can be treated in different ways. They can be made of plain material and embroidered by hand or they can be made of fancy material; they can be made of white edged with color or of color edged with white, and they can be made of sheer batiste and lawn, of linen, of the éponge that is so much used and of silk. White linen with the embroidery in Bulgarian style makes a very smart collar. White voile with an edge of color put on with a fancy stitch makes a very pretty, dainty effect. The highly colored silks that are so much used are effective made in this way and there are Bulgarian, Cubist and stained glass designs from which to choose. Plain colored silk of satin makes a handsome collar, too.

EVERYTHING that pertains to the Directoire period has a peculiar interest and fashions of the season promise to be largely influenced thereby. Just now Robespierre collars are extremely fashionable and the models illustrated are exceptionally good. They can be used over a coat or blouse as liked and they can be finished with or without the frills, but lace really makes an important feature of all fashions of the period and the collars without the frills scarcely deserve the name. These two models are excellent. They completely transform any toilette and they are very simple and easy to make. For street wear, a chemisette can be arranged beneath, and these chemisettes are made of net and various filmy materials. Collars of black satin are smart over any coat, collars of white linen are worn over all washable blouses, and collars made of material to match the blouse are greatly in vogue. However they are used, they give a very distinctive, up-to-date touch to the costume.

FASHION NOTES

THE single ruche is seen as a finish to coat necks. It is made of the coat material or velvet the same shade and laid in double box plaits, wide at the back and narrowing at the front. It is wired, of course, between the material and the silk lining almost to the top where the edge falls back about an inch. A bow of wide satin ribbon the shade of the material is at the center of the back, where the ruche is sewed to the coat. Ribbon ends come around the neck on each side to the front, where they are tucked in folds and hang in streamers to bust depth. Or sometimes just the bow is worn.

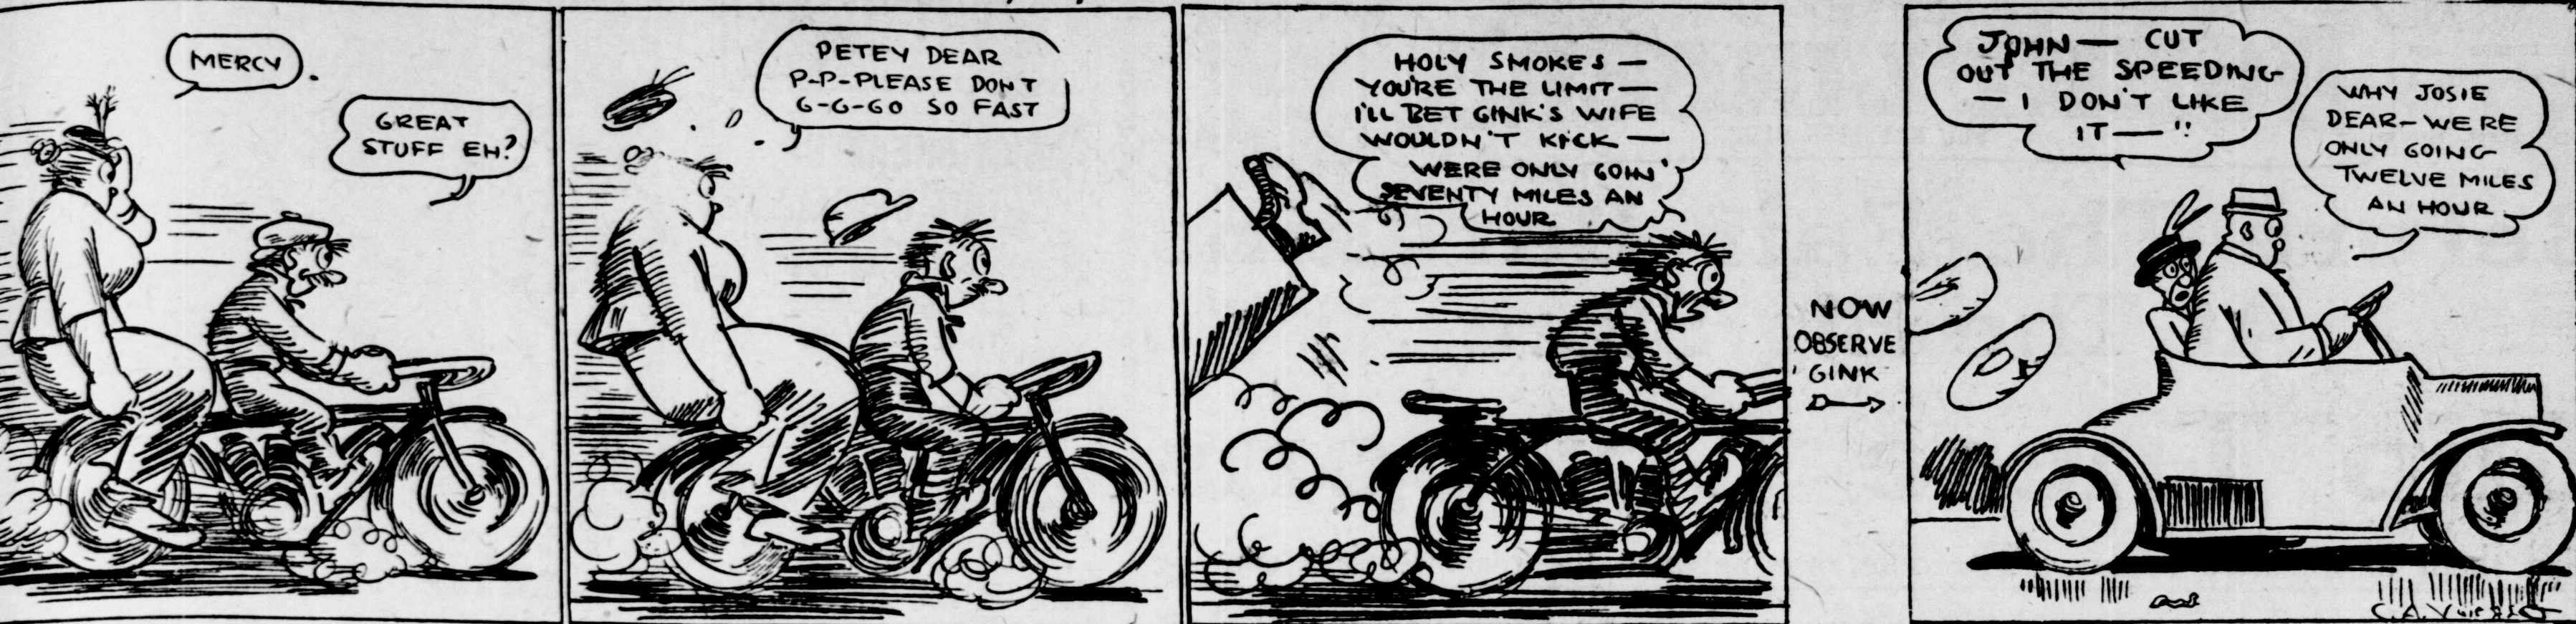

The smartest gowns for general wear have long sleeves that are finished at the hand with frills to match the neck trimming.

Almost every dress has some sort of a girdle or sash on it of brightly colored soft silk or satin, and it is always draped or swathed twice around the waist, falling well over the hips. Even girdles of tur are worn.

Foreign Markets
New York Stocks
 NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—There was a good supply of activity at the opening of the stock market but the stocks appeared irregular with a reactionary tendency.
 11 a. m.—The market displayed a decided increase of strength toward the end of the first hour today and at 11 o'clock trading was fairly active. Prices were well above low quotations. The rumor that the distribution of dividends in New Haven railroad stock, current about the Stock exchange are today ridiculed.
 2 p. m.—There was not sufficient activity in the market to sustain speculative interest in the early afternoon and commission houses received very few orders.
 The stock market closed strong and active.

 Home and Heart.
 My home is as much of nature as my heart embraces. If I only warm my house, then that only is my home. But if I sympathize with the sounds and silences of nature, and share the repose and equanimity that reign around me in the fields, then are they my home, as much as if the kettle sang and fagots cracked, and the clock ticked on the wall.—Thoreau.

MILLERS AHEAD OF THE BREWERS

Milwaukee Drops Two to Tail-enders While Minneapolis Fights 18 Innings to Tie

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 18.—By standing Columbus off in an 18 inning tie, one of the longest games that has been played in the American association for two years, the Minneapolis Millers today found themselves leading Milwaukee in the chase for the pennant by the bare margin of one point. The Brewers dropped both games of a double header to the tail end Indianapolis team while Minneapolis and Columbus were engaged in their protracted session.

Joe Lake, released to Minneapolis by Detroit, went the entire route for Minneapolis, holding the Senators to ten hits. Columbus used two pitchers, Cook and Ferry. Darkness ended the game at the end of the eighteenth after the battle had been on for two hours and 59 minutes.

Watching The Scoreboard

(By Hal Sheridan)
It's only by a margin of one point, but the New York Yankees are out of the cellar today. The White Sox collected 18 hits and won the first game of the double header yesterday, but the Yankees took the second.

In the meantime the Athletics trounced the Browns, which produced the combination necessary to shift St. Louis into last place.

With the world's series approaching, it might be observed that the Athletics made 15 hits. Veteran Harry Davis, who went to first for McInnis in the second inning drew two hits out of three times at bat.

President Farrell has brought word here that the Yankees have obtained Dodge Criss from the Texas league by the draft process. Criss will arrive in New York disguised as a pitcher. Old inhabitants may remember him as a pitcher and later pinch hitter for the St. Louis Browns.

If the Yankees can just keep the Browns in last place the way will be open for a series between the two tail end St. Louis teams to put on a series to decide which is the worst team in the country while the pennant winners are fighting for the world's championship.

The Tigers took two games from Washington, assisted by Dubuc and Ty Cobb.

Dubuc held the Senators to two hits in the first tussle. Cobb hit safely twice in four times at bat during this game.

In the second he lined out a home run with the bases full and drove out two singles.

Joe Jackson connected for a double and single in four times up as his offering for the day and Ty Speaker went hitless.
